Total Credit Hours

Total Quality Points

Psychology GPA

To compute Quality Points, multiple grade value (A=4; B=3; C=2) by the number of credit hours for the class.
Example: a grade of A (4) in a 3 credit course would equal 12 quality points. Compute +'s and -'s as the straight grade.

PART VII: FINANCIAL INFORMATION

Will you be seeking financial aid to support your graduate work?

If YES, by what means?

Would you like to be considered for departmental and university scholarships?

PART VIII: FINAL QUESTIONS

Are you waiving access to your letters of recommendation?

The University requires that we ask the following question:

If you practiced as a state licensed mental health professional, did you in the past 5 years, have a formal complaint substantiated against you specifically for sexual exploitation of a client?

I understand that the University of North Texas may be required by law to inquire as to my prior employment history in detail and in particular relative to possible occurrences of sexual exploitation of patients or former patients. I hereby release any of my former or current employers and any applicable licensing agency with which I am registered from any liability in regard to the full and accurate disclosure of information regarding my employment history. I further release the University of North Texas and its agents from any liability in regard to the procurement of and use of such information including but not limited to, any act of negligence or defamation in regard to such procurement and use.
